
Mindzoom Affirmations Subliminal Software

there are many applications that claim to deliver subliminal messages, but only a few actually do. and not all of them are effective. there are a few factors that determine how effective your subliminal messages are. when you program affirmations, you need to make sure that you state them correctly. for instance, you can say "i am happy" but you can't say "i am happy." you have to get the verb to be a part of the sentence. another reason why your affirmations won't be effective is the voice you use to deliver them. if you use a high-pitched voice, you might not be able to get the message across. also, there are many people who can't sleep during the night. sleep deprivation has a way of getting the best of you and your message will not penetrate deep enough. if you are getting no results with your affirmations, then you need to try a different method of delivery. you can play the messages on your stereo system, have them delivered by a tape recorder, or even play them in the background using your mp3 player. you will be able to access the system by downloading the program, which is available in a number of platforms like: windows, mac, linux, etc. mindzoom gives you the option of setting the affirmations to one of the three levels of difficulty. you can also choose the method in which to deliver the affirmation, either on a visual, aural, or tactile level. the best part is that the affirmation could be triggered on a scheduled schedule as well. you can access the affirmation programming by downloading the software from the website and running the installation file. after the installation, you will be guided on how to use the software and the affirmation programming. you can also select the method in which to deliver the affirmations, either on a visual, aural, or tactile level. the best part is that the affirmation could be triggered on a scheduled schedule as well.
